

Inter-Carrier PCE-Based Path Computation in Keihanna Interoperability Project

- The objective is to test cutting edge technologies for PCEP interoperability in inter-carrier networks.
- Basic PCEP interoperability testing among four vendors/carriers (single-PCE environment) was successfully achieved.

Acknowledgement

This work is a part of

- "Lambda Utility Project" supported by National Institute of Information and Communications Technology (NICT)
- "R&D on next-generation backbones" supported by Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications, Japan.
- SCOPE-I "Standardization of inter-carrier optical network interface" project supported by Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications, Japan.